2014 Highlights

MERCER STREET FRIENDS ANNUAL REPORT

Bridging opportunity gaps... helping families and communities make the journey out of poverty.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Friends,

2014 was a year of self-reflection and self-evaluation for Mercer Street Friends. In response to increasing need throughout the Greater Mercer County community, we have asked "How can we do more"?

We excel at engaging "difficult to engage" youth and adults and we have well-established programs which combine assessment, evidence based home visiting and parent education to reduce child abuse and neglect and increase maternal health outcomes. We have expanded to include home environmental screenings, support groups for mothers at-risk for post partum depression, and parental stress reduction groups aimed at reducing out of home child placement.

Building upon our success providing life skills, employment training and job placement to youth and adults, we spearheaded an initiative which bridges the digital divide by providing computers and internet access to economically disadvantaged families as well as teaching youth information technology skills that they will need to compete in the marketplace.

Through the addition of our child hunger, summer feeding and senior/family mobile pantry programs, we are finding increasingly innovative ways to lead the community response to hunger throughout Mercer County. We are also bringing much needed attention to the food insecurity that exists in communities with higher per capita incomes.

Despite these successes, we still ask, "How can we do more?" Building on the work of the West Ward Alliance, we have deepened our community impact through a partnership with the Trenton school board to create the Community Schools Initiative. The goal is to integrate our expertise in family engagement, child development, reducing hunger, breaking the cycle of child abuse and neglect with the school system's expertise in educating children. The expected outcome is children freed up to learn because their non-academic needs are being met, and teachers freed up to teach because their students can be more focused and engaged.

Any good evaluation gives thoughtful consideration to weaknesses as well. "How can a large and diverse organization become more agile?" we asked. "How can we do a better job at communicating with our partners, supporters, and friends?" In 2014, we launched our Resource Development Council, held a large scale fundraising event, and began work on an Advocacy Committee. Perhaps most significantly, we made strides towards more effective and consistent communication. We now have a consistent social media presence and a new website. We are sending out monthly e-blasts and are proud of our new newsletter that merges our previous publications "Circle of Friends" and "Table Talk" into "Friends Talk".

Our newly adopted strategic plan charts a clear path towards our future, and it is truly our future. You, our supporters, enable the work of "bridging opportunity gaps...helping families and communities make the journey out of poverty".

Thank YOU!

Shannon M. Mason, Ph.D
Executive Director

SUMMER FEEDING

■ Closed summer meal gaps for 100 low-income children and provided a wholesome breakfast and lunch and Send Hunger Packing weekend meal packs.

SNAP OUTREACH

■ Assisted 171 households with applying for SNAP benefits. Average benefit was $163.53 a month.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

■ Supported by 900 volunteers who gave 5,611 hours of volunteer time.

SEND HUNGER PACKING

■ Partnered with 12 schools and provided 17,800 Send Hunger Packing weekend meal packs that went to 550 children facing food hardships at home.

The Food Bank launched its Mobile Pantry, a new initiative aimed at reaching families and seniors who face food hardships but are unable to go to a food pantry due to mobility, transportation or work schedule conflicts. Volunteers and staff assemble containers filled with food staples, fresh produce, dairy items and poultry that are delivered to low-income housing sites. Last year, close to 200 qualified families received 30 to 40 lbs. of food each delivery.

PRESCHOOL

- Educated and nurtured 90 children, ages three to five, at our fully accredited early education center during the school year.
- 40 children were able to attend our summer program, minimizing the summer learning gap, a problem that is particularly prevalent in low-income communities.

- In addition to on site meals, the preschoolers received a weekend “Kids Kits” food pack from the MSF Food Bank.

YOUTH SERVICES

- Engaged 71 youth in life and vocational skills training programs to teach and practice skills needed for success in social relationships, employment and academics. Topics included communications, goal setting, college preparation and workplace etiquette.

- Following the training phase, 52 youth were placed in internships to apply what they learned and explore career interests.

- Supported 17 youth who received individual or family clinical counseling services to address risk factors relating to mental health, substance abuse, family issues, peer conflict and other socially relevant areas.

- Hosted and mentored four student interns from Rutgers University and Princeton Theological Seminary who are pursuing undergraduate and graduate learning in psychology, social work and theology.

TRENTON DIGITAL INITIATIVE

- Secured donations of 359 used computers.
- Refurbished 139 computers with the help of four adult volunteers and 28 Youth Services program participants who were taught how to clean the computers and install new software.
- Distributed computers to 71 Trenton families and, if qualified, linked them to Internet Essentials from Comcast, a program that offers low-cost internet service to eligible low-income families.
- In partnership with MSF’s Parenting programs, taught a group of 25 parents how to use a computer for job searches, résumé building, homework help and for accessing useful sites for parenting and child development information and then provided them with free computers.

I found the computer program to be a benefit for my whole family. With what I learned and with the computer I received, I am able to pay my bills, my three-year-old plays educational games and my nine-year-old does his homework and extra studies on it. My computer was a nice practical gift and I am thankful.

Mr. W., Single Dad

PARENTING AND ADULTS

ADULT EDUCATION

■ Worked with 154 adult students (ages 16 or older) seeking to improve their literacy skills, including reading, writing and math; achieve a high school diploma; gain or retain employment; or enter post-secondary education or training.

■ Followed the U.S. Department of Education's new Common Core standards.

■ Staff instructors (program coordinator and half-time AmeriCorps member), along with 16 highly skilled volunteer tutors, offered intensive one-on-one and small group instruction.

■ Eight students took the high school equivalency exam and five passed. It is of note that the TASC exam, which replaced the GED as part of Common Core, was not available until summer of 2014. Seven students entered employment, and two entered post-secondary education/training.

COMMUNITY WORK EXPERIENCE PROGRAM – EDUCATION DIRECTLY RELATED TO EMPLOYMENT

■ This job readiness and preparedness program assisted 268 parents who receive public assistance with acquiring and adopting knowledge and strategies that will lead toward employment and self-sufficiency.

■ Participants, enrolled for up to 16 weeks, learn how to write a cover letter and résumé; conduct job searches; practice phone and face-to-face interviewing; and hone their math and literacy skills. Staff teaches workplace etiquette and attire; conflict resolution and problem solving and other skills needed to retain a job and help participants identify and address issues at home that are barriers to self-sufficiency.

Kareem Appling, a father of two, searched for job openings with the computer given to him through the TDI program. When he saw a position with the Cheese Cake Factory, he applied online, was called in for an interview, and used the interviewing skills he had practiced to land the job.

The teachers didn't give up on me... they told me I could do it...and I did.

Kaw Do

Kaw Do passed the TASC exam in December and achieved his NJ high school diploma. Kaw came to the United States as a refugee from Myanmar (formerly known as Burma). He works full-time and in January 2015 became a US citizen.

Adult education students face many situational barriers, such as unemployment, housing, child care, and transportation, as well as challenges stemming from lack of self-esteem, learning disabilities, problems with focusing and retention, lack of family/peer support, inexperience with commitment to a task, and a history of school failure.

Latoya McCray and Lawrence Railey enrolled in Healthy Families when Latoya was seven months pregnant with Destiny (now 17 months old). They also have a four year old named Desarae.

Latoya: "I have learned a lot from being in the program. I feel like because of what I've learned, (Destiny) is learning things a lot faster than her older sister did. She's 17 months and she can say some phrases and sing her ABCs."

Lawrence: "I feel like this time, I'm really learning how to raise my daughter. I've gotten a lot of information about things like teaching them to share. We learned how important it is to do activities with them, to read to them, eat together, and play with them."

FAMILY SUPPORT and REUNIFICATION

■ An interdisciplinary team consisting of a clinical social worker, trained Family Support Worker and certified counselor partnered with 59 parents to guide them in activities and strategies focused on reducing the risk of continued child maltreatment and establishing safe and healthy parenting skills and behaviors.

■ The FSR team provided 460 individual parenting education sessions, 45 psycho education groups, and 78 individual/family counseling sessions. Twenty-eight families avoided out of home placement or were reunified with their children.

HEALTHY FAMILIES-TIP

■ Family Support Workers conducted intensive home visiting services and supported 83 fragile families through parent education; home, health and safety information; stress management tools; and linkages to medical and other services.

■ The program reached approximately 250 women, children, and partners through 2,421 home visits.

MSF PARENT CHILD CENTER WEST

■ At this safe and nurturing site, 681 parents who came through the doors learned and practiced skills needed to create a healthy home for their young children. Among the services offered:

- Parenting and stress management support groups.
- Developmental screening for infants/young children.
- Connections to health and medical care.
- Time for story reading and books for parents to read to their children.
- Monthly developmental screening "parties" where children are observed through fun, engaging games that promote parent child interactions and parents given tips on how to encourage their child's growth and development.
- Computer skill lessons.
- Food to reduce food shortage in the home, provided by the MSF Food Bank.

PARENTS AS TEACHERS

■ The 51 families enrolled in Parents as Teachers, were visited by trained MSF Parent Educators who role modeled healthy behaviors and encouraged parenting practices that promote nurturing non-violent environments for their children.

"The "Art of Preschool", a new program for parents and their children, was offered during the summer months. Parents and their children participated in fun activities focused on helping children get ready for the routines of preschool, such as sharing, sitting for a period of time, and focusing on a project. Parents were guided by staff in supporting healthy behavior by their children that would help them to be prepared for success in a preschool setting.

WEST WARD ALLIANCE

- Held Trenton mayoral candidate forum that was attended by 400 residents.
- A second forum for Trenton At-Large and West Ward council candidates drew an audience of 175.

The turnout to both forums, the mayoral in particular, was incredible. It indicates that residents are concerned about Trenton's future, and will participate when given the right opportunity, in an environment conducive to community involvement.

Lois Krause, member,
WWA Steering Committee

COMMUNITY SCHOOL INITIATIVE

The Rivera Middle School

- With the approval and blessing of the Trenton School system, the Rivera Middle School was chosen as the site to launch the first Community School in Trenton.
- Mercer Street Friends adopted a three-year strategic plan with the goals of creating a community school, leading a community school movement in Trenton, aligning the assets and expertise of the agency to accomplish these goals and being a learning organization.
- Children's Aid Society National Center for Community Schools, experts in the field, engaged to guide Mercer Street Friends through the implementation stage.
- Planning committee, consisting of Mercer Street Friends staff, Rivera school principal, school personnel and the Parent Liaison, assembled and undertaking planning steps and actions.
- Conference held in November to introduce the community school model to an audience of 60 stakeholders and other interested parties.

In my entire employment career, this organization has been the only one that has affected me so deeply. It's more than just the mission that we strive for every day. It's also the staff and the wonderful volunteers that make being a part of this organization so great.

Sometimes I am amazed that many adult students from other countries need to learn fractions, decimals, and other things that we learned when we were young, but then I remember they probably did not have the opportunity to go to school. They plug along and work very hard. Watching that hard work is very rewarding, and seeing them pass the exam (especially when English is not their first language) is truly joyful.
